

Call for Applications for Paid Continuing Education Reading Group Leaders Summer 2024

Position Description:

SASA seeks 6 Ancient Studies PhD Students or Early Career Scholars for the paid role of Reading Group Leader for our Summer 2024 Continuing Education Reading Groups. The position, also known as a “SASA Educational Ambassador,” is to lead a weekly discussion group of 5 hour-long sessions in the summer of 2024 on an ancient topic of the Group Leader’s choice. Compensation for a 5-week Reading Group is $40/hr per session, plus 1/2 hr prep time per session. There will be six 5-week groups. This was made possible by a grant from the Gladys Kriebel Delmas Foundation.

SASA’s Teaching Ancient Studies Reading Groups:

SASA’s Teaching Ancient Studies: Continuing Education Reading Groups are small, informal discussion groups for K-16 educators. These groups offer a platform to earn continuing education units (CEUs) while exploring diverse topics in ancient studies. Groups are free and open to all, attracting a wide range of participants in age, background, and nationality.

Each Reading Group is designed by its Group Leader, who curates engaging materials – including scholarly articles, primary sources, and multimedia resources – to foster lively discussion and enrich participants’ perspectives. These materials are provided to participants beforehand and hosted on the designated Google Classroom for each course. At the weekly sessions, the Group Leader facilitates the discussion and may provide additional context to enhance understanding.

Feedback from our regular Reading Groups this past January and the past three summers has been incredibly positive, with both Group Leaders and participants expressing enthusiasm for the experience. See below for more details on group formats.

Responsibilities:

SASA Reading Group Leaders have the following responsibilities:

- Design a course of study for 5 weeks
- Create and curate a Live Syllabus
- Send preparation materials to students in advance of each session
- Lead the discussion sessions

SASA loves to host groups on relatively niche topics and areas of study, please check out the list of our past Reading Groups and Master Classes to get an idea of what kind of topic you could choose for your own Group. Click on each group there to see its Live Syllabus. Reading Groups are an excellent opportunity to discuss topics you are interested in but might not have had the opportunity to teach about before. SASA will work with you on choosing a topic, and we take care of running the admin and advertising for all Groups. Reading Group Leaders should have a love for teaching and come to groups prepared to engage participants in meaningful conversations.

Google Classroom:

Each Teaching Ancient Studies Reading Group will have its own designated Google Classroom where all materials for the Reading Group will be hosted. These classrooms will be managed by SASA staff.

While participation in the Google Classroom for the reading group is not mandatory for Reading Group Leaders, we strongly encourage it. This platform provides a valuable space to:

- Access and manage course materials
- Communicate directly with participants
- Share additional resources or insights
- Foster discussions outside of weekly sessions

About SASA

SASA is a non-profit organization, tax exempt under IRS code 501(c)(3). SASA's mission is to counter the downward trend in Ancient Studies fields in academia, by (1) uniting graduate students to (2) engage students by guiding the widespread American interest in ancient times toward Ancient Studies, to (3) facilitate ease of access to studying the ancient world, and to (4) support and reimagine scholarship as a lifelong pursuit for those who work as professionals in other areas after receiving their PhDs.

At this time, all positions with SASA are unpaid, including management, volunteers, and interns, save for some few project positions paid for through grant funding. Since work for SASA is all done remotely, we take a proactive approach to supporting our volunteers and interns. Our goal is that internships with SASA are mutually beneficial, such that volunteers help work on various SASA projects and gain experience in multiple areas, learn skills, gain knowledge, and build connections with numerous people in Ancient Studies and the nonprofit world. Interns work alongside volunteers with more experience and under the guidance of our Team Leaders and the Director. Our work atmosphere is exploratory and collaborative. We all enjoy the company of people who have varied backgrounds and interests of all ages, and who are passionate in their pursuits.
